Current ISLO for Computation

Graduates should be able to solve problems involving data gathering and analysis, apply mathematical concepts, and use technology in the process.

Proposed change to Computation ISLO—fall 2018

Graduates should be able to use quantitative reasoning to solve problems involving data gathering and analysis, apply mathematical concepts to a variety of everyday life situations.